

Add Multiple Sign-in to Your Google Account

When you are logged into your GusMail email account you'll see your GusMail address in the top right corner. To add multiple accounts, we'll need to edit our Google account.

In the drop down you will see “account settings” click and you will see your Google services page.

Click Edit beside Multiple sign-in under the Personal Settings section.

Select the On – Use Multiple Google Accounts in the same browser, and check each box to show you understand the limitations and features of Multiple Sign-in. Not all of the Google apps currently support it, but most of the main ones such as Gmail and Docs work great with it. Click Save at the bottom when you're done.

On - Use multiple Google Accounts in the same web browser.

Select each of the checkboxes below to confirm you understand how to use multiple sign-in:

- The account you're currently using is displayed at the top of most Google product pages, or at the bottom of most pages on mobile devices. Always check to make sure you're using the account you want.
- Not all Google products support multiple sign-in. When switching between Google products, the account you're currently using may change.
- Google products not listed above will default to the first account that you signed in to using your current web browser session.
- Offline Mail and Offline Calendar will be disabled. You may lose any unsent mail. Learn more

Learn more about other ways to use multiple accounts with Google products.

Off - Use one Google Account at a time.

Save

Cancel

You may need to sign out of all accounts for this setting to take effect.

You'll now see a confirmation in the top of the page. Click the Back link to go back to your Accounts settings page.

Google accounts

Your account information has been updated and saved - Back

Sign in to multiple Google Accounts

You should now see a down arrow beside your Google account. Click it, and then click Sign in to another account to add another account.

Sign in with the other Google account you wish to add in the login box.

Now you'll see your second Google account when you click the down arrow beside your email address. Your first, main account will be listed in bold as Default. Click the other email address to switch to that account.

If you'd like to add another Google account, simply click the Sign in to another account link again to add it.

Remove a Linked Account

Would you like to remove the extra accounts you added? Unfortunately there isn't currently a way to remove just one linked account, so you'll need to turn off Multiple sign-in to remove the accounts. To do that, login to your Google Accounts page as before, and click Edit beside Multiple sign-in.

Create a profile or edit your personal info without creating a

Dashboard View data stored with this account

Email addresses geektesters@gmail.com (Primary) Edit

Multiple sign-in On - Edit

Click the Off bullet near the bottom, and click Save.

Offline Mail and Offline Calendar will be disabled. any unsent mail. Learn more

Learn more about other ways to use multiple accounts products.

On - Use multiple Google Accounts at a time.

Off - Use one Google Account at a time.

You may need to sign out of all accounts for this setting to take effect.

Once you've saved the changes, you'll only have access to your main Google account. If you ever decide you'd like to add the second account again, repeat the steps above. Note that this fully removes the data about your second account from the first account, which is great if you accidentally added your account to the wrong Google login.

Conclusion

Whether you have multiple personal Gmail accounts or use one for business and one for personal use, this is a great way to keep your accounts together. Unfortunately you cannot access your Google Apps accounts this way, though you can already be logged in to a Google Apps account and a standard Gmail account at the same time. Google Apps account support will be added to this eventually, but for now, it's a great solution for accessing any of your standard Google accounts without logging off and on or using workarounds.

If you'd like to send and receive email from other email accounts, including Hotmail accounts, inside Gmail, here's an article on How to Add Pop3 Email Accounts to Gmail.