

The federal government requires that schools that receive Title IV federal funding provide information to students about the GAINFUL EMPLOYMENT CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS to help students make informed educational choices. Information provided includes costs such as tuition, fees, books, and housing, and the median federal and private educational loan debt of students who completed their certificate.

Those programs are APPROVED for student aid eligibility through the Department of Education:

Undergraduate:

- Certificate in Dance
- Certificate in Electrical Technology
- Certificate in Technical Teacher Education

Graduate:

- Certificate in Autism Spectrum Disorder – Classic
- Certificate in Autism Spectrum Disorder – Early Childhood
- Certificate in Autism Spectrum Disorder – Higher Functioning
- Certificate in Reading/Language Arts
- Certificate in School Library
- Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages \(TESOL\)
- Certificate in Technology Integration