I would like to invite and encourage you to consider the Journal of Managerial Issues (JMI) as an outlet for your current and future research work.

Regarding the quality of the Journal of Managerial Issues, the following indicators are relevant:

- Editorial Review Board members and ad hoc reviewers represent prestigious academic research institutions;
- Authors also represent prestigious academic research institutions;
- The rigor and relevance of articles published (see articles full-text via ABI/INFORM);
- Long-term success in the marketplace (first issue published in fall 1989) -- celebrated our 30th year anniversary with the 2020 spring issue;
- Acceptance rate of less than 30%;
- Internet full-text paid subscriptions via major carriers (Information Access, EBSCO Publishing, ProQuest, and E-Library);
- Member of the JSTOR archive of important scholarship in the fields of management, business, and economics;
- Listed on the ABDC (Australian Business Deans Council) Journal Quality List.

Please visit www.journalofmanagerialissues.com to view the JMI's mission statement, editorial policy, review process, annual indexes, etc. Submission guidelines are also available inside the back cover.

The JMI is published in hard copy and carried full text online via Information Access, EBSCO Publishing, ProQuest (which includes ABI/INFORM), E-Library, and JSTOR. The published articles are primarily empirical in nature, but conceptual or theoretical papers are also considered. As per procedure, the JMI does an initial in-house review of a submitted paper for relevance to the journal before sending the paper to external reviewers. For prompt consideration, please send your paper as an attachment to JMI@pittstate.edu.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
