Friday, April 22, 2011 at the Pittsburg State University Technology Center 8:00 AM to 3:00 PM

Check-in begins Friday at 7:30 AM

C&M Enterprises will be providing 6 Code based hours of training on Analysis of Changes to the 2008 NEC®

Analysis of Code Changes

This overview and analysis provides a jumpstart into the more significant changes that impact all electrical work. Over 3,600 proposals and 2,300 public comments, processed by twenty code making panels, have shaped the 2008 NEC® into a code unlike its predecessor. While all of the changes cannot be covered in this training event, this course is intended to provide detail into the more significant changes adopted into the 2008 National Electrical Code NEC®. Specific changes can be addressed which impact a particular state, region, or jurisdiction. The accompanying coursework, "Analysis of Changes, 2008 NEC®", published by the International Association of Electrical Inspectors® (IAEI®) provides attendees with "up-close-and-personal" insight and detailed reference into approximately 400 of the more crucial changes to this latest version of the NEC®. While NEC® codebooks may be helpful and always recommended, this course is designed to provide all the necessary information to explain and understand the latest changes without additional materials. The PowerPoint presentation and the coursework provided for this training will ensure maximum exposure to the more significant changes and allow for attendees to reference all of the significant changes (with accurate and authoritative interpretations) easily after the seminar via the detailed coursework published by IAEI®. This course is especially suited for contractors, tradesmen, design professionals and code officials with a "need-to-know" regarding the latest version of the NEC®. Those attendees will be able to recognize and analyze the changes that impact both new and existing electrical installations. Participants may find highlighters and sticky notes useful during this course (not provided).

This course qualifies for 6 contact hours of Code based continuing education for Kansas electricians for more information see: CandMenterprises.net
